Dear Prasanth Prabhu,

It is a pleasure to inform you that the Clark University Graduate School and the Biology Department have accepted you into the doctoral program in Biology beginning in August 2019. You are one of a small group selected from a strong field of applicants on the basis of your academic strengths and the relationship between your interests and our resources. Your application showed exceptional merit, and we look forward to the skill and insight you will bring to our program.

According to the Graduate School of Clark University, you have until July 13, 2019 to accept or decline our offer of admission. Once you have decided, we ask that you submit our Enrollment Reply Form <<http://gradapply.clarku.edu/apply/form?id=e6c41714-e5d3-4b7c-9b3a-e769530d16ab>>.

Note that your admission to the doctoral program in Biology is contingent upon receipt of your final official transcript. If you have not already done so, please have this forwarded to the Graduate Admissions Office as soon as you are able. We encourage you to review the information on our admitted student's website <<https://www.clarku.edu/admissions/graduate-admissions/accepted-students/>> for additional details about enrolling in the program, including the required forms you will need to submit and important dates and details for our new student orientation.

We know that this decision is an important one. To help you in considering our offer and answer any questions you might have about our program or the University, we encourage you to contact any of our faculty members or our admissions assistant Lauren Cardello via email at lcardello@clarku.edu.

Sincerely,

Nathan Ahlgren, Ph.D.
Director of Graduate Studies
Biology Department
